

From processed equations to the retained physical branch receipts

Result: equations accumulate around adjacent astrophysical constraints; the collider-growth branch remains broken.